How is the situation to be remedied? No one can exactly tell. The one thing certain is that we must have democracy in business as we have it in poli tics, and there must be a carefully thought out and planned system of democratic conduct of business as well as a genuine democratic spirit pervad as a genuine democratic spirit pervad-ing the same. In the past we have had the spirit, and the system has been secondary, because of our undeveloped opportunities. But with the filling up of the land and the appropriation of the opportunities, the system has be-come more autocratic and threatens to stills the democratic spirit. stiffle the democratic spirit.

There are two ways to get a demo-cratic system. First, by complete pub-licity of the actual interior manage-ment of business, with rules of equal rights to all and special privileges to none; and then, with public conduct of all business, equality of reward for equility of effort, regardless of whether that effort produces more or less. Second, a return to individualis-tic conduct of business and the utterly free competition of many small enter sible, of the ability of men to combine, and the loss to society of the econo-mies secured by combination.
